The members of the Class of 1931, now in their Freshman year at Monterey High School, will also be present.

In Memoriam

The Fifth Grade had a Memorial Day program Friday. In addition to several beautiful selections in memory of the dead, there were two bulletin board displays, one was by Pat. Crichton. It was a pen and ink drawing showing the unknown soldier's grave with an airplane above dropping a wreath bearing the word Peace, and the American colors on the grave. Underneath were printed the names of the Countries that took part in the World War. Four American flags completed the display.

Carol Card drew the head of an unknown soldier, wearing the regulation iron helmet. Then she made a silhouette of the same thing to represent the spirit of the departed. The picture was displayed with the silhouette as the background and framed by the red, white, and blue crepe paper artistically draped.

Alice Fletcher, Fifth Grade

The Seventh Grade Plants a Tree

During one of Mr. Gale's Seventh Grade agriculture classes, it was suggested that we plant a tree. Last Thursday afternoon they planted it. James Martin and Joe Stewart brought a fine young redwood. The committee in charge was Joe Stewart, James Martin and Hal Stone. Patty Ball opened the program by giving a speech on "Why We Planted a Tree." Then came the planting of the tree. Every boy in the Seventh Grade put one shovel full of dirt on the roots.

After the planting of the tree Albert Lockwood quoted the poem "Trees." Then Betty Uzzell, President of the Seventh Grade Class presented the tree to the school. Joy Ballam, as president of the Student Body, accepted it. Mr. Bardarson then gave a short speech. Miss Currey directed in singing "America." As that was the end of the program we adjourned to the class room. The program lasted about half an hour.

Betty Uzzell, Seventh Grade

A Young Violinist

Tuesday morning, May 31, 1932 the children of Sunset school were entertained by Miss Marylin Sullivan, a young violinist. It may be interesting to know that little Miss Sullivan is only six years old.

She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Sullivan. Little Miss Sullivan played many well known pieces such as "The Swanee River," Beethoven's "Minuet," "The Cradle Song" and many others.

Miss Sullivan lives in Santa Cruz and is under the musical instruction of Mrs. Mildred Sahlstrom Wright.

Miss Sullivan's recital was enjoyed by all and it is hoped that she will visit us again.

Council in Economy Move Cuts Salaries of City Employees

By Jean Crossman and Rosalind Sharpe

A resolution slashing ten and fifteen per cent off the salaries of all city employees, probable awarding of the new garbage contract to George L. Chaney, and several other important matters featured the regular meeting of the city council held Wednesday night.

The first matter brought up was a letter from Mrs. Reardon, requesting permission to remove a pine tree, which was said to be dangerous. Mrs. Reardon accompanied her request with a $5.00 deposit to take care of planting a new tree. The council granted the necessary permission.

Then a letter from George Chaney, brother to Lon Chaney, was read, asking for the Carmel garbage contract lasting for four years as the present one expires in August. Mr. Chaney is a World War veteran and has resided in Carmel for nine months. He desires the regular meeting of the city to become a permanent resident and taxpayer. He expects to pay the City of Carmel $465.00 annually and expects to make about $150.00 a month. John Catlin and in Carmel nor was a taxpayer. Mr. Sheridan then wished to know where the garbage would be dumped. The present dumping ground is at Seaside, but no one seemed to be certain when the contract ended. The point was then brought up that it was a proviso in the contract of Mr. Chaney that the City should provide the dumping grounds. The dumping expenses have been $35.00 a month.

Frank Sheridan then spoke of the dangerous U turns at the junction of San Carlos and Ocean and Dolores and Ocean. He suggested that they should turn at Lincoln or at the bottom of the hill instead. They decided to try it for a while and see how it works out.

Sheridan also stated that the pines in the middle of Ocean Avenue were being killed by the cars that were parked there. Birney Adams said that the automobiles had nothing to do with killing the trees. He said that if the tap roots were expected to grow the old oil sand should be removed. After lengthy discussion it was finally decided that the matter should be reported on at the next regular meeting of the Council on July 6th and that fifty dollars should be appropriated for the purpose of employing Adams' time for a comprehensive report on the condition of the trees.

The ordinance pertaining to the sale of bankrupt stocks was passed.

It was decided that anyone in the employ of the town with a salary over $150.00 should receive a 15% cut, and anyone with a salary under this amount a 10% cut.

This Week's Cover

The cover of this week's Sunset School edition of the Pine Cone was drawn by Jean Spence, a member of the Eighth Grade.

It is symbolical in design; the motif being Education, pointing towards the Towers of Achievement and urging Youth to continue its quest.

The Eskimo

On Tuesday morning, May 24, Mr. Rolph came to the Fifth Grade classroom. He told the pupils many interesting things about summer and winter in Eskimo land.

Of all the many things that he told us about, I think the most amusing thing was about the birds coming north for the summer.

Three or four days after the birds arrive there are eggs lying here and there on the hill-sides. When the young birds come out of the egg shells there is more noise than if the whole school was yelling. When the first ice appears all the birds go south together.

Another interesting thing that he told us about was the whales' yearly bath. Every year a whale collects a good many barnacles on his sides. Once a year whales will come into a harbor and then turn over on their sides, then thousands of Sandpipers will come and clear the whales of barnacles.

Carol Card, Fifth Grade

Young People Enjoy Concert With Elders

which is very unusual for a Carmel audience. Several pupils of Sunset School were present and they enjoyed Miss Ingels' music very much. Martha Millis

Studio Gossip

By Marjorie Tait

An exhibition of the water colors of James Fitz Gerald which are on view at Tilly Polak's prove to be of genuine merit and afford a great deal of pleasure to all who cherish a love for the massive, colorful hills and rolling farmland surrounding Carmel.

This young painter is from Boston where he spent three years at the Museum School. "I really believe, however, that I am quite over the effects of it," he said smilingly, "Although it has taken a long time!"

He won a scholarship which he didn't use, but shipped aboard a Gloucester fisherman instead, and for five long, hard trips, sailed the wild and wintry seas around the Grand Banks and Nova Scotia. So he knows and loves the sea, and when he first came to California, he painted nothing else. His first reaction to the heroic scale of a California landscape was that it was too vast for him to assimilate. To him, it wasn't paintable. He didn't know where to begin.

Wisely, he waited, painted the sea instead, and finally it all came to him. But he still feels that it is too stupendous, that in order not to lose the essential grandeur, it is necessary to get away now and again—get a fresh eye. Therefore, he has built his studio in a closely wooded section of Monterey where there is no subject material at hand and where he can relax and find peace.

For James Fitz Gerald feels on a highly emotional and sensuous plane. Temperamentally, he is adapted perfectly to the medium of water color as this medium requires a more personal and more direct attitude than oil. An oil painting can be dealt with more in the analytically intellectual manner. He pointed out that much of the best oil painting has been done by working backwards.

He feels that the greatest expression of purely American art is obtained in water color and that there is a constant trend towards the use of that medium in this country. Water color bears the same relationship to oil as poetry does to prose. He finds that when the medium comes between you and the statement, it stops that imaginative thing that the picture has to give you. And that is often true. It is sometimes hard to look at oil painting without thinking of the medium. There is never this feeling when looking at a water color. It is a more direct medium. You must know what you want to say, and say it simply and sincerely.

This is just what James Fitz Gerald has done. With broad, sweeping strokes he has disclosed a recognition of the fundamental forces of nature. His burning hills up in the Big Sur country vibrate in the heat and above them a sky of the most inutterable delicacy and transparency shimmers into infinity. This same elusive quality has been magically caught in the background of another composition showing a pair of white horses drawing an old covered wagon. These same horses appear again in a black and white study and in one of the Carmel Valley ranch scenes. A rushing stream up at San Remo becomes a live and satisfying thing as the sunlight filters in upon it from the bordering trees. Mr. Fitz Gerald Burlingame spent the week end with their parents and sister, Mrs. George Young. The Pudan boys, with their parents and sister, spent their childhood in Carmel where they attended Sunset School and quite frequently took part in the Forest Theater plays.

Scout Benefit Party

To Be Held Wednesday

A card party for the benefit of the Carmel troop of Boy Scouts will be held next Wednesday night at Manzanita hall with many awards to be given away for the highest scores.

Due to present financial conditions, the Monterey peninsula community chest, which usually takes care of the local scout troop, is unable to provide the regular funds. The card party is being held to supply this need and all Carmel residents are invited to take it in.

There will be tables for contract bridge and also for whist. Arrangements for the affair are being made by Robert Leidig and Ivan Kelsey.

Can We Spell?

An interesting editorial in last week's issue of the Pine Cone referred to the importance of Spelling in newspaper work. The writer seemed to have his doubts as to whether enough importance is given to spelling in the elementary school.

If he were a pupil in Sunset School he would not have such doubts! We have spelling over and over and over again, every day of the school week and every week of the school year.

We have a regular spelling lesson every morning, then all the written work we do in composition, history, geography, civics, and agriculture is carefully gone over by our teachers whose eagle eyes spot the misspelled words.

Of course it is no longer, "Readin' and 'ritin' and 'rithmetic Taught to the tune of a hickory stick" But it still is—

"Study your spelling and study it well
To succeed in life you must learn to spell"

Under the Reading Lamp

Some Book Reviews

The Blind Lion of the Congo, by Elliott Whitney

In the spring of 1929 Mr. Wallace pleaded with Mr. and Mrs. St. John to let their son Burt go to the Congo.

Mr. Wallace was Burt's uncle and he felt Burt was thin and pale from working hard to get the scholarship at Yale. The parents seeing that Burt was small for his sixteen years of age consented. Critch, Burt's friend, was going too for he was very good at skinning animals.

They reached the mouth of the Congo and followed it around for twelve hundred miles. Finally they struck off for elephants.

There were narrow escapes from elephant stampedes, a capture by black pygmies who were going to brand them and a double-crossing by their friend, Captain Montenoy, for a good reason.

Did the boys find their uncle or were they killed by a band of pygmies? Read and find out for yourselves.

This book is the most interesting that I ever read.

The descriptions are very vivid and there are illustrations to add interest to the story. The title could be improved.

Jeanne Barrett, 5th grade

"Wings" by Saunders

This book is an exciting story of adventure in war, by a man who writes as if he had experienced what he writes about. The scene changes from the United States to the trenches of France. Johnny Powell, second lieutenant of the Air Squadron 39, and Mary Preston, a nurse, are the principal characters. Powell, who is only twenty years of age, was noted as a "speeder" whether in a truck or in an airplane. In addition he was one of the fastest runners at the front.

I liked the story because it has many interesting parts to it. I think it is the best story I have ever read. It is thrilling enough and exciting enough to interest any boy.

Albert Lockwood, 7th grade

The Hunted Pickaninies, by Fleming

This story takes place in Australia before the country was thickly settled. The boys in the story get lost and their wanderings in the wild, unsettled country make many exciting adventures. Joe and Dick are the two lost boys and Coolaman the oldest of the lost pickaninies. Joe was ten years old and Dick twelve. Dick was tall and sober minded and Joe was cheerful and jolly.

The plot is most interesting and concerns the activities of a wicked medicine man. Finally, however, the boys outwit him.

I thought this story was very well written. It showed hardship and fun, but it was a story any boy or girl would enjoy if they liked a story with plenty of adventure in it. It showed how the two lost white boys would have died if it had not been for the pickaninies, as they had no matches and did not know how to hunt very well. The black boys knew how, however, and the writer makes a book very interesting in the way he shows how the blacks help the two white boys.

Jean Hollingsworth

Hard of Hearing Meet To be Held at S. F.

A number of Carmel and other peninsula residents are scheduled to attend the annual conference of the American organizations for those hard of hearing to be held in San Francisco on June 20. The conference lectures will be held in an auditorium equipped with earphones at every seat so that all may hear.

The aims of the organization are to help the deafened to rehabilitate themselves and to give them every cooperation possible. One of the features of the San Francisco conference will be a lip-reading tournament to be held on the second day of the session.

Carmel Library Given Praise at Convention

The high standing of the Carmel library in that it is one of the best of its size in the state was commented upon at the convention of librarians held in Santa Barbara recently, according to the local librarian, Miss Hortense Berry, who attended.

Miss Berry disclosed the fact that Vaughan McCoughey, editor of the Sierra Educational News, is now planning a state-wide survey of city and county libraries. The statistics gathered in the survey will disclose how high the Carmel library stands in comparison with those of communities that are two and three times larger than Carmel, Miss Berry said.

Watch Your Step or Draw Up to the Curb

Members of the California Highway Patrol have been instructed by their chief, E. Raymond Cato, to enforce strictly the section of the law prohibiting the throwing of lighted matches, cigars and cigarettes from moving motor vehicles during the coming fire hazard season.

Cato instructed the officers to arrest any persons caught throwing such material from cars and to charge them with a violation.

Officers patrolling front roads leading to public recreation areas were urged particularly to see that the law is not violated.

The order of the patrol chief was issued after conferences with Merritt B. Pratt, state forester, in which the co-operation of the state traffic police in preventing and fighting fires was pledged.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wheldon and Miss Mary Wheldon are motorizing for two weeks, stopping at interesting places along the Redwood Highway. They will stay in the Mount Shasta region, and on their way home they will visit friends in San Jose.

F. S. Lipman and family are summer months. They are in their here from San Francisco for the Valley View cottage on the Point.

Community Players Score Again in the Drama "Rain"

By Hal Garrott

In search of entertainment, I dropped in to see Rain last Friday—and found it! Some notable things have been done in Carmel. Unquestionably one of them was the Carmel Community Players' production of Rain under the direction of Galt Bell.

Having seen Jeanne Eagels in her great role, I can speak advisedly. In New York the play was Jeanne's entirely. And in Carmel it belonged equally to Olga Fish. Even during the talky scenes, some of which bordered on monotony, the audience were not conscious of players on a stage. Actually they were participants in a bit of red-blooded life, for the illusion did not falter. Credit for this belongs primarily to the director, Galt Bell. It also belongs to everyone and everything connected with the production—from the creator of that magic, rain-beaten tropical garden to Ameena's flaming costume, the old-fashioned castor and the hanging lamp.

But it was Sadie Thompson around which the others oscillated, as planets circle a sun. The playwrights had willed it so, and so it was. And Olga Fish accepted the challenge. Hers was a different when it brings us to Howard Sadie Thompson—not a bit like Brooks last! In the hard-as-nails, Jeanne Eagels'. It was softer, play-strident missionary, Howard ed in a lower key—it missed Brooks achieved one of his notable Jeanne's climax which thrilled to interpretations. His playing never the very bones, but compensated drags, never lacks fire, never fails by its humanness. Olga Fish's to dominate. That Carmel can afford to place minor roles in the How is one to capture in words hands of George Faircy, Charles O'Neal, David Skanhan but proves the delicate aroma of personal charm! At least one can be grateful for Olga Fish, and express a desire to see her frequently on the Carmel stage.

In so well balanced a production, all seem to clamor for mention at once. Let us consider the actors "in order of their appearance." Henerietta Shore's Ameena was more than convincing—it was "there." That waddle, that costume, that guttural twist to the lines! She alone supported the South Sea Islands' "local color" on her shoulders. Atlas could have done no more.

Byington Ford delighted us with his Sergeant O'Hara. Honest, simple, it was one of this talented player's most appealing roles. Robert Parrott seemed so much at home as Joe Horn, I almost took Mrs. Parrott seriously when she wondered how she'd ever make him "snap out of it" at home!

James Roche-Kelly as Dr. McPhail was "from the life"—not a wavering tone or false accent. Hester Hately's minor part as Mrs. McPhail was enriched by her musical speaking voice.

Ruth Waring's portrayal of Mrs. Davidson stands out—a black cameo, skillfully and relentlessly tooled. The applause she won in this unpopular part is high tribute to her histrionic gift. Lucian Jones acquainted himself most creditably as half-seas-over Quartermaster Bates.

The defect of a critical presentation of actors "in the order of their appearance" is obvious when it brings us to Howard Sadie Thompson—not a bit like Brooks last! In the hard-as-nails, Jeanne Eagels'. It was softer, play-strident missionary, Howard ed in a lower key—it missed Brooks achieved one of his notable Jeanne's climax which thrilled to interpretations. His playing never the very bones, but compensated drags, never lacks fire, never fails by its humanness. Olga Fish's to dominate. That Carmel can afford to place minor roles in the How is one to capture in words hands of George Faircy, Charles O'Neal, David Skanhan but proves the delicate aroma of personal charm! At least one can be grateful for Olga Fish, and express a desire to see her frequently on the Carmel stage.

Had this play been less absorbingly presented, some of its uneventful scenes, previous to the smashing finale, would surely have left their mark of boredom. As it was, we remained under the spell from curtain to curtain.

herself disliked by the others. A marine (Byington Ford) falls in love with her. Reverend Davidson succeeds in making the consul of Pago-Pago consent to send Sadie back to San Francisco. It turns out that Sadie has to serve three years in the Penitentiary. Finally she says she will go back. Then the Reverend Davidson falls in love with Sadie and kills himself because he cannot live up to his standards of life.

The play was very good except for some minor details which could have been made better.

At the third night of the performance the writer of the play (John Colton) was at the theatre.

Christian Science Churches

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, June 5, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Ccientist, in Boston, Mass.

The citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon will include the following from the Bible: "For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast" (Ps. 33:4, 6, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The creative Principle—Life, Truth, and Love—is God. The universe reflects God. There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God" (p. 502).

The Seventh Grade recently gave an Americanization exhibit. It consisted of booklets telling the story happenings in American history, with colored maps and drawn pictures of the presidents. Mr. Gale has appointed different pupils to write a brief outline on the board on different topics in history.

"Rain"

Rain, the play presented by the Community Players, was backed by a fine cast of actors.

Through the whole play you could hear and see rain. The rain could be seen to the left hand side of the stage. The rain was rather monotonous at times.

The costumes and properties were fine. The costume worn by Sadie Thompson, (Mrs. Sidney Fish) was atrocious, but just the same it was a very good costume. It was just the kind of clothes that Sadie Thompson should wear.

The whole play took place in the general store on the island of Pago-Pago.

The first act was not as good as the other two acts.

The second act had a lot of good humor in it. Reverend Davidson (Howard Brooks) did very fine acting in the second act.

In the third act Reverend Davidson kills himself. His wife (played by Ruth Waring the first night and Marion Todd the other nights) acted very well. She comes in with bowed head and a slow walk.

The play is about some people who have to stay on the island of Pago-Pago because of sickness on board the ship that they had to come on.

One girl, Sadie Thompson, who is a happy-go-lucky girl, makes

The Enquiring Reporter

By Patty Ball 7th grade

The enquiring reporter asked many questions of various people. Some of them she received answers to and some she did not. Sometimes people just stared at her, sometimes they just laughed. But when they did answer she wrote their replies down. Here they are.

What do you think of school?

I like school. I am always glad when vacations come, but I am just as glad when school opens in the Fall.

Gertrude Foland

What would you do if you had a million dollars?

Go to Europe. Save some money. Give some of it to the poor. Get the best possible training for stage that money can buy.

Alla Osborne (age 13)

Are the Sunset School pupils doing well this year?

I think this has been one of the best years we have yet had. Classes have made great progress in all their work including the tool subjects. The pupils show a better working attitude than ever before.

O. W. Bardarson,

Principal of Sunset School

What do you think of the Seventh Grade?

A most likeable, lively, noisy, energetic and hard working group whose interests are (1) baseball, (2) having stories told them, (2) asking questions.

R. J. Gale
7th grade teacher

Who is your favorite character in history?

Robert E. Lee, because he was brave, true, intelligent had a wonderful personality and was a real gentleman.

What do you think of Al Capone?

One of the worst outlaws the United States has ever seen. Eleven years in prison wasn't half enough for him.

Rupert Kendall, (age 13)

What is your ideal of a teacher?

One who is reasonably good-natured and firm, who can joke with you, but yet gets a lot of work out of you.

Peggy Crane, (age 13)

What is your ideal of a parent?

One whose wishes you respect because you know they are for your own good.

Eleanor Butts, (age 14)

What qualities do you like in a friend?

Trustworthiness, kindness, stick-to-it-iveness and loyalty.

James Martin, (age 13)

What do you think of President Hoover?

I think he is doing his very best and deserves a lot of credit for not losing his head in the face of many difficulties.

Betty Rae Sutton, (age 13)

Do you believe in World Peace?

I doubt whether it is possible, but I believe it should be. If the League of Nations were stronger it would help.

Martin Flavin, Jr., (age 12)

In answer to the question which the Enquiring Reporter asked the teachers as to what they were doing to help the unemployed, I was given the following statement.

"In case the present unemployment situation is not alleviated and on the request of the local Employment Commission, the teachers of the Sunset School wish to contribute a sum of approximately five hundred ($500.00) dollars to the unemployment fund for the year 1932-1933. The time and manner of payment to be arranged by the principal and the committee of teachers. It is further specified that the amount contributed be used only to relieve the unemployment situation and particularly to aid families where there are children."

"In order to augment this sum the principal of the Sunset School wishes to contribute one hundred ($100.00) dollars on the basis of the conditions specified above."

Traffic Control in Sunset School

Last year in Sunset School the traffic was managed by an adult during the term, but this year we have worked out a new idea with the boys as the managers in control of the School's traffic. This system has worked out very successfully. The boys have taken this responsibility with much seriousness on their part, conducting the traffic very well. Mr. Huston, the manager of this district of the California State Automobile Ass'n. Willie lost his grip and fell. He appeared before the boys and told them some of the facts of law hours to him but, it was a few minutes. He hit the deck.

arm bands for the pupils' use. They also have received books which tell them what is the right thing to do when on duty.

Mr. Bardarson has selected a chairman for the group of boys who are on the traffic committee, who supervises their work. The pupils have co-operated very well, which is very important. In case a motor vehicle does not obey the commands of those on duty, the license number is taken and the long arm of the law does the rest because this organization is backed by the law.

During the next year I feel sure that it will be even better than this year, so you will be able to feel safe to have your children come to school.

Employment Commission
Gives Thanks to the Workers

By the Rev. Austin B. Chinn,
Chairman

The Carmel Employment Commission has received the balance of the fund accruing from the recent Carmel Benefit Nights entertainment. The entire net proceeds, amounting to $823.40, have been turned over to the cause of employment. Kindly permit us, through your paper, to convey to Mrs. John Batten, her committee of co-workers, our local newspapers, the Pine Cone, the Carmelite, the Monterey Peninsula Herald, and all others who helped to make the entertainment such a splendid success, our sincere appreciation. Indeed, we are sure that all Carmel is deeply grateful to them.

This fine piece of work has been the means of relieving the hard lot of some of our fellow citizens. It has given a livelihood, with a retention of their self respect, to a large number of men, women and children living in Carmel.

But for this substantial addition to our funds, the Employment Commission could not have continued its service much longer. Now, by supplementing it with other prospective smaller contributions, we shall be able to maintain our present schedule through the summer.

Certainly a full measure of honor and gratitude is due that group of people, individually and collectively, who worked so hard to make this possible.

Willie, the Coward

The wind howled, and the waves roared. The ship plunged on, ceasing to roll. Its bowsprit hit the water, and came up dripping. The sky was black, the sea was an oily green, black substance.

Willie the new sailor hated by all hands was called yellow, only God knew that he was not. He raced the tipping deck, climbed the rigging. The hail beat on his back, fairly cutting him to pieces. A spar cracked somewhere, men at the sail had their fingernails torn from their hands. While the boatswain gave them orders, Willie reached the topsail, two hundred feet. He looked down and could not see the deck because he was up too high. The mast was swaying about 70 degrees. He helped the other three men furl the sail (he did the most). At last it was down, the ship gave a sudden lurch, then came a grinding sound, Willie lost his grip and fell. He appeared before the boys and told them some of the facts of law hours to him but, it was a few minutes. He hit the deck.

Among the most active supporters of the public school in the United States are the millions of members of the great Masonic Lodge. The Student Body officers are elected by a majority of votes of the pupils twice a year. The president takes responsibility of Student Body meetings, with the help of the other officers. They assist her in organizing the meetings. Old business and new is brought up at the meetings, also subjects of current interest. Two matters satisfactorily acted upon by the Student Body this year have been protection of our new building from marks and scratches and handling of traffic on San Carlos street in front of the school.

A Visit to the Library

When you visit the library you will see one of the best exhibits of books in Carmel. There are many hundreds of books for your children which they will enjoy. There are also many books for the grown-ups. The librarian, Miss Hortense Berry and her two assistant librarians welcome you with all their heart to read the wonderful display of books. There are all the books of the greatest poets and writers in the world. You will find there the daily news also waiting you. There are also specimens of all the flowers in California in beautiful glass cases. Miss Berry is always at your service to find a book for you. I advise any person, grown-up or child, who likes to read, to go to the Carmel Library on Ocean and Lincoln.

Nobility

One day three girls were going home from school. They were talking about what they were going to be when they grew up.

"I'm going to be wealthy. I will help all those who are poor," said one.

"I'm going to help people when they have too much work to do," said another.

"I'm not going to hurt anything. Even animals and small creatures," put in the other girl. But just then one of the girls cried out.

"Oh I have lost my gold locket."

"I found it," said a voice behind her, and turning around they saw a poor little girl.

"I'm so glad it's found," said the one who had lost it, with that she ran. She didn't even give the other little girl a "Thank you." She had forgotten what she had said about helping the poor.

When the other little girl reached home she would not help her

The Theatre in Carmel

It looks as if Carmel were in for a season of good theatrical entertainment fare. Our two recent plays "Chicago" and "The Firebrand" reached many people who love the theatre. "Chicago," directed by Frank Sheridan, made many laugh until their sides ached. The "Firebrand" was the first of the Community Players' sponsored by a group of Carmel people. Galt Bell, the director, is known to us all for his splendid work. The membership of the Community Players is open to everyone, and includes people who want and would like to be in some of our season's plays. The play "Rain" which we have all heard about, was given this last week end. Mrs. Sidney Fish portrayed the part of Sadie Thompson, made famous by Jeanne Eagels on the stage, and Gloria Swanson in the movies.

Galt Bell also directed this play. Edward Kuster has given the former Studio Theater of the Golden Bough for the use of the Community players for the season which we all appreciate. I am sure the plays of the weeks to come will be as successful as these three I have reviewed.

Shop-lifting, an art acquired and practiced by many who have kleptomaniac desires, eats up the profits of big department stores from three to five per cent, according to Norman Nelson, one of the chief accountants of the largest mail order house in the world who was visiting here this week.

Nelson, who has supervision over the books of some 50 stores on the Pacific coast, points out that shoplifting is one of the great losses with which shops are faced.

her house and apartment. One woman recently caught had $3000 worth of clothes in her home, Nelson said. Clothes, unlike jewelry, must be stored in large quantities before they can be disposed of.

The amateur shoplifter who practices her art not because she is so much dishonest, but because she is anxious to get something for nothing, is much more difficult to apprehend. Usually they wear big fur coats under which one or two dresses can be slipped without attracting anyone's attention. Professional shoplifters, however, go at it in a big way. One woman finally arrested as she was leaving the store had more than a dozen dresses under her coat and samples of several other types of merchandise.

Oddly enough, shoplifting is carried on by the feminine sex almost exclusively. Seldom are men picked up for stealing smaller articles. Nevertheless, Nelson reports two men, who carried out a large electric refrigerator from one of their stores, without anyone realizing it. Big cabinet radios have also been stolen in similar fashion.

Del Monte Races Provide Many Thrills for Crowds Last Weekend

Del Monte, May 31—Three big up they made 3 runs, making the days of racing were climaxed Sunday at Del Monte by a sensational brush duel between Sidney Fish's Oui Monsieur and J. W. Williamson's Walnut Creek. This pair came battling down the over the Reds had 3 runs across the plate, then the Giants ended 5 to 4 in the Shamrocks favor. The game was between the Yankees and the Shamrocks. The Irish had a lead in the second inning, making two runs. Then the Shamrocks scored twice in the third, the Yanks scored twice in the fourth to make the count 4 to 2. In the fifth the Yanks made a run making it 4 to 3, but the Irish got back in the fifth and made a point. In the sixth the Yankees went without a run, and made only one in the seventh. The game ended 5 to 4 in the Shamrocks favor.

John Sheridan

witnessed this season.

Oui Monsieur proved the victor by half a length but the result was in doubt the final strides. The Fish leaper had a bit too much speed over the flat for Williamson's promising 4-year-old hedge topper. Mrs. Thomas W. Durant's Leading Light was third.

Jockey Gerald Smith rated Oui Monsieur off the pace during the first turn of the field and then brought him up to challenge the leading Walnut Creek. These two raced sensational through the stretch.

Oui Monsieur was well supported in the options and paid $10 and $3.75 in the option.

The track record for the distance of about two miles was cracked and a new mark of 3:57 was hung up.

Ronald Colman and Clark Gable, cinema celebrities, have been visitors at the track during the racing. Both stars enjoy Sport of Kings. Gable is a particular devotee of the royal sport and frequently watches the races from Starter Bryan Steele's starter's stand.

Sunday was an especially good day for favorite players. The solidly backed horses came down with amazing regularity all afternoon.

Racing Manager J. W. Williamson is arranging particularly attractive programs for next Saturday and Sunday. Some of the finest thoroughbreds at the course are expected to tangle during these two afternoons.

The Carmel Pistol Club

On Sunday morning July 13th, a group of pistol enthusiasts gathered at the gravel pit on the Carmel Valley road for target practice; and then and there decided to form a pistol club. Further arrangements were made and officers chosen.

The club holds meetings regularly and often for target practice, and there is no other sport which will so compel a person to watch carefully after the condition of his eye-sight, nervous system, and physical health; for pistol shooting requires a steady hand and a clear eye.

According to eminent authorities on the subject, good pistol shots are made not born, and to become an expert shot requires diligent practice and perseverance. There is also no other sport where the meek and the mighty meet on common grounds for mutual purpose to the same extent as in pistol shooting.

In the short two years of existence of the Carmel Pistol Club, their membership has grown rapidly, and includes the names of millionaires, bankers, doctors, lawyers, mechanics and laymen in their roster. All true representatives of the citizenship of this community, and, the proficiency which they have attained in the use of the side-arm has been remarkable.

They have already included nearly all of the nearby pistol clubs, police teams, U. S. Army teams, traffic officers etc, etc. in their list of shoulder to shoulder matches with the larger clubs such as the Olympic Club of San Francisco and have been promised a match with the San Francisco Police Department. These pistol matches are held under the auspices of a local representative of the U. S. Revolver Association, Targets being fired on the local range, and exchanged by mail with the competitive clubs. A few of the members have already attained national honors in the form of medals which may be seen on display in a window of the Williams building together with different types of ammunition and reloading tools. They also have on display several targets made by members of the local club which are worthy of the careful inspection of anyone interested.

WESIX STEAM BOILER

CALIFORNIA dairymen are rapidly bringing their sterilizing equipment up to date so that they may command better prices for higher quality products. To accomplish this end, successful dairymen are installing the WESIX Steam Boiler.

This electrically operated boiler is the ideal steam generator to use with sterilizing equipment on large dairy farms. It produces quick, low-pressure steam and an abundance of hot water. Unlike boilers using other fuels, the WESIX Electric may be installed in your milk room. The result is a saving in labor and time. The use of this high-efficiency boiler also safeguards dairy profits by reducing bacteria count to a minimum.

For as little as $12.50 down a Wesix Steam Boiler will be delivered to you complete, including insulation, pressure gauge, safety valve, water glass, and automatic electric cut-out. To increase your dairy profits as others are doing, take advantage of this special offer before it is withdrawn June 15, 1932. ## The Devil Walks

A good guide for teachers would be to teach our kids to avoid doing anything their parents do; try anything their parents don't do; to believe nothing we are sure of; to think about anything we don't think. That last sentence is too long; "to think," is enough.

So writes our friend and philosopher Lincoln Steffens in the Carmelite. To expect teachers to teach children how "to think" is a large order. Even Life in millions of years of trial has not succeeded in teaching that to most of us!

"The Village Smithy" appears not only in Longfellow's poem but in Carmel's City Council as well. Mayor John C. Catlin is the village blacksmith as well as mayor.

W.S.

In spite of the depression an artist in Carmel has advertised for a "patron" much as artists did in the Middle Ages. We can only guess as to his rating as an artist but considering the depression, he takes first rank as an optimist.

J.S.

Carmel, all by itself, has thought out a plan by which everyone may eat! It is to be in the form of a "Public Exchange" where the artist can trade his latest canvas for a can of beans or "what have you". Isn't that a ray of light in the darkness of depression? B.R.S.

* * *

There is much talk about the depression but little is done about it. Talk may be of value but it can't buy milk, potatoes, bread, meat.

C.W.

No Carmel organization does more for the poor and distressed than the local Red Cross. Among its many activities, it provides funds to supply school lunches to needy children.

* * *

Carmel, as it usually does, elected new candidates for the City Council. Our poet-mayor retires in favor of our blacksmith mayor. Does this mean the anvil will replace the pen in the Council Chambers?

J.S.

It seems that the depression has come to stay with us for a long visit so we might as well fix up a room for it. In a recent magazine I read an advertisement which told how people have lived for weeks on bananas, so if you see a person eating bananas you can make a pretty good guess that they are pretty near starving. For what other reason would a person want to eat bananas?

* * *

Personally, I think that prosperity must have moved because I can't find his street. In fact I have been hunting for that fabulous corner for ages but they tore the street up in 1929 and I keep getting on a detour.

* * *

I felt sick so I went to a doctor. He diagnosed my case and told me I was getting pop-eyed from looking ahead and that my neck was getting crooked from looking around corners for prosperity.

There have been a great many arguments and discussions over the writings of Shakespeare. Many people believe Bacon was the writer and he allowed Shakespeare to sign his name. A man has recently found a new theory on the matter. He says that every word is a cryptogram with a different meaning. He also believes that the key to these cryptograms lies in a hidden tomb in Europe. The Bishop is in Carmel this week. M.F.

EDITORIAL

SUNSET SCHOOL ISSUE

This issue of the PINE CONE has been written and edited by the pupils of the Sunset School as a part of their regular classroom work in English. In practically all respects, it is their work done under the faculty supervision, of course, and each class in the school is represented by at least one contribution.

The staff of pupil editors is as follows:

MARY HOBSON Assistant Editor
ALLA OSBORNE Associate Editors

THE SCHOOL YEAR

The frontispiece illustrates the upward climb of mankind toward a higher degree of civilization through the medium of education. It is undoubtedly true that schools, due to changing economic and social structure, have become essential to the proper mental enlightenment and moral elevation of children and adults. The Sunset School is contributing its part in furthering the well-being and education of the children of this community.

The friendly and constructive interest of parents and electors has made possible the development of a fine school plant and what is more important the development of a school program adapted to the ideals of this community.

The school year which is now coming to a close has been marked by a fine standard of accomplishment on the part of the pupils and a morale which has been most satisfying.

The school program emphasizes development and strengthening of character; drill on the tool subjects such as reading, language, arithmetic, spelling, and penmanship; an activity program which encourages the child to display initiative and requires the child to do research work, to select and organize material, and to present the material in written or oral form; an appreciation and understanding of cultural activities by setting high standards in music, art, and literature.

We are proud of the boys and girls who compose the graduating class of 1932. Their scholastic achievement is far above national records on the basis of standard tests. We feel that their future scholastic attainments and success in life will be well above average. Our best wishes go with our fine young friends. O. W. BARDARSON, Principal

AMERICAN FLAG

When the American colonists first came to America they naturally brought with them the flag of the mother country. During the Revolutionary War many flags were used. One flag which was used a good deal was the rattle snake flag. "Don't tread on me." It was not until June 14, 1777—a day which is now celebrated at Flag Day, that the Continental Congress originated the stars and stripes. At this time there were only thirteen colonies, so there were thirteen stars and thirteen stripes, but as more states joined the Union and more stars and stripes were to be added it would make the flag out of proportion, so it was decided to leave the thirteen stripes and add a star for every new state

JUST A BIT OF FAIRYLAND

Carmel, with its roaring ocean
With flowers blooming in the sun
Great, beautiful, majestic pines
Lovely meadows and creeping vines
Blue birds, humming birds and a saucy jay
Wee, soft downy little nests lined with hay
Just a little bit of fairy land
From rugged mountains to ocean sands.

VACATION TIME

When vacation time is here
I am always full of cheer
The place that I would like to be
Is at a fishing hole beneath a tree

In vacation time I sing and shout
And almost turn the house inside out
Until my mother gets so mad and says,
"When school opens I will be glad."

And then when vacation time is o'er
I am ready to start to work once more
To study arithmetic and English too
But I like vacation time best, don't you?

Thelma Pressler, Eighth Grade

TEARS AND JOY

I saw the children passing by,
Their calls and laughter ringing,
I saw the robins flying high,
They were merrily singing.

I saw the crowded streets below,
Alone I saw the people pass,
In tears I saw the kites fly low,
I was behind a dusty glass.

How dark, how lonely, and how still
Since Mother left this earth,
In tears I looked out from the sill
At children playing with mirth.

I was tired, weary, and, alone
I then saw a vision far away
Someone said in a soft, low tone
Be happy child this bright summer day

Your mother's up here, guarding you dear,
Listen, look, kneel and pray
Look for the beauty on earth here
And be happy this bright day.

I saw the children passing by,
Their calls and laughter ringing,
I saw the robins flying high,
They merrily were singing.

Jeanne Mary Barrett, Fifth Grade

that entered the Union. Many accounts have been given as to the origin of the stars and stripes.

It was long generally believed that Betsy Ross originated the idea of the stars and stripes, but a few years ago it was discovered that the real honor of designing the flag belongs to Francis Hopkinson, a prominent figure of the Revolutionary Period, as he submitted several bills to the government for designing currency and seals and also for the flag of the U. S. A.

"I swing before your eyes, as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the pictured suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation. My stars and my stripes are your dreams and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them so out of your hearts." This, said Franklin K. Lane a member of Wilson's Cabinet, is the real meaning of Old Glory, the banner of the United States; for the flag is but a symbol of a nation.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

What is the purpose of making and enforcing laws?

Is it not that we may all be protected and safe in our daily lives as we go about earning our living, associating with our friends, and seeking amusements and diversion?

I believe that, to be effective, laws must be few in number, not to interfere too much with people and be strictly enforced.

One great mistake that has been made about law-making is that it has long been believed that laws are made for adults. Childhood is the place for learning to respect and obey the laws; to wait until we are grown up is often too late.

A criminal is not suddenly made. On the contrary he develops slowly, beginning with some trifling breaking of the law, such as cheating in school and finally ending up with a definitely criminal act.

Carmel is fairly free from crime and criminals and I think every loyal Carmelite should keep it so.

—Joy Ballam, 8th grade

THANK YOU, PINE CONE!

The pupils of Sunset School and particularly the members of the staff of Sunset Glow take this opportunity of thanking the editor and staff of our contemporary The Pine Cone for their courtesy and cooperation in turning over this edition of the Pine Cone to us. We consider this opportunity not only a courteous gesture but a real chance for those of us who are interested in journalism to get some valuable practical experience. It gives us also an opportunity to bring our school, its needs and the work it is doing to the attention of the people of Carmel, who after all should be most interested in it—do not they pay for it?

We have made this year an earnest attempt to present to Carmel as fine a paper as our predecessors did last year. And that is quite an undertaking!

—Jean Stewart, EDITOR

BABY DEAR

You came into this world a helpless mite, a bit of flesh and blood, just living on with Mother's love and God's sweet care.

Your gurgling and laughter have sweetened the hearts of friends.

Your little soul is beautiful and free from sin.

Oh, live in this way; let your soul be sweet and happy in your far away world, but do not let your tragic experience in this cruel world strain your spiritual beauty.

And you, who would harm a loving baby, tear it from its mother's heart, deprive it of its life—you would do this are not human and you should not be allowed to share the joys of this world.

If you knew the agony these poor parents suffer from the loss of their loved ones you could not go on mercilessly destroying life and hearts, robbing innocent people of their happiness.

You, fellow citizens, know that our country is becoming unsafe to live in. There is so much greed for money. If we would all work together for a common cause and realize that there is so much else more worth while than money, but no, some people do not care for the grief of others. They think that just as long as they are not harmed everything is all right. We must be one for all and everyone must do his part to make this world a better one in which to live. Let us profit by the crucifixion of this innocent babe instead of letting the matter go unheeded.

his shop I took a memory of a charmed by his genial smile and very friendly pleasant personality conversation. I truly felt that I was visiting a good acquaintance instead of interviewing an artist for school credits.

Perry Newberry

Mr. Newberry, as we all know, is the editor of the Carmel Pine Cone and a very interesting man. He has edited the Carmel Pine Cone for five years and likes it very much. However, this is not the only paper he has edited; San Jose Sketch, San Jose Daily Record, San Francisco Wave, and the Okanogan Record were all edited by this same interesting man. The Okanogan Record gave him the most fun of all of the papers he has edited. He was editor of this paper twenty-five years ago. When a boy in school he used to get out a Junior Paper and since then has felt the urge of the newspaper business and he likes nothing better.

The Carmel Pine Cone was started in 1915. The Pine Cone is a paper of great variety, it is not monotonous as so many small town papers are. One paper is no sooner finished than you begin another, so you see why Mr. Newberry takes such a pride in this paper. Perry Newberry does some of the wood block prints, drawings, and writings that you see in Carmel's own paper.

The newspaper business is a good business to begin life with after getting out of college or school. It gives you a chance to get in contact with people and events in the world which you would otherwise not know about.

This is Perry Newberry's idea and mine also. Mr. Newberry is as we all see by his editorials a very original and interesting man.

Mary Hobson, 8th grade

A Landscape Artist

Mr. Ferdinand Burgdorff's idea about an artist is that he chooses the thing in art that he likes best. Some artists like trees, others horses or flowers and so on and on.

He likes trees himself and lives out in God's great open country a large part of the time. It gives him a chance to travel to beautiful places like Yosemite, the Indian country and the Sierras.

The kinds of things an artist does leads him to meet other people who also like landscaping.

The artist's mission in life is to make other people see God's beautiful work.

I enjoyed my interview with Mr. Burgdorff very much and I hope that I may go to his home to get another article.

Bernard McMenamin 8th grade

An Interview with Mayor Catlin

John C. Catlin, Carmel's new mayor, has lived in Carmel for ten years. Before he made a permanent home here he went back and forth from San Francisco to Carmel always wishing to live here some day.

Mayor Catlin was a lawyer in San Francisco, Sacramento, and Alaska before he came here to live. He has a real blacksmith shop where he makes beautiful ornamental iron.

Although Mr. Catlin has never held a position before on the Carmel Council, he has always been very interested in the affairs of our city. Mayor Catlin is very proud to be Carmel's mayor and Carmel is very proud to have him as its mayor.

I enjoyed my interview with Mr. Catlin although he made me

He enjoys life in Carmel very much and hopes to continue to work on the Pine Cone.

Although he is called co-editor of the Pine Cone he is really business manager as Mr. Newberry takes charge of the editorial work.

He thinks the plan of having the school edit one edition of the paper is a very good one as it teaches the children how to write and also the responsibility of newspaper work.

I enjoyed my short interview with Mr. Cockburn very much and sincerely hope he stays working on the Pine Cone.

Jean Stewart, 8th grade

Mr. Luis Mora Answers Questions

It seems that Carmel has turned into a second Hollywood over night. Students are found lurking around studios and small houses waiting for interviews.

The other evening I hurried up to Mr. Luis Mora's cottage for a quick interview. As soon as I went inside I was immediately over.

Mr. Robert Ralph

Mr. Ralph went to Alaska in 1898 to join the gold rush. He lived there until just a few months ago. He mined for gold and sold furs ever since 1898.

Now he makes things as the Eskimos do. He carves roots and walrus tusks in Mayor Catlin's shop. Mr. Ralph likes Carmel very much and is going to make his home here. He gave a very interesting speech to the fifth grade about Alaska.

It took him about a year to learn the Eskimo language, for that is a very hard language to learn. In every part of Alaska a different language is spoken. This makes it very difficult to communicate between villages.

People Talked About

As They Look to Their Sons

Frank Sheridan was born in Boston Mass. June 11, 1869. He started to act professionally September 1881, while he was still in Grammar school. His first engagement was with the Boston Theater Company.

He continued to act there until he was 14 years old when he went to Highland Military Academy, where he stayed until he was 17 years old, then he went back to acting again.

In his family there have been actors for over 200 years back. His uncle William E. Sheridan was a famous American actor especially in Australia. Mr. Sheridan played under many managers and played with most well-known stars.

Mr. Sheridan started in silent pictures as a star in 1913 and worked with Pathé World Film for many years. He went into pictures at the very first and has been in them ever since.

As a side issue Mr. Sheridan was a Music Publisher. His most successful piece was "Marcheta." His most recent picture was "Broken Lullaby."

Mr. Sheridan came to Carmel in 1925, and has been here ever since. He hopes he can stay here always.

John Sheridan

He started writing plays as a hobby not a profession. In 1915 he took a trip to Europe and he while absent his older brother Inn are rather distinguished and Frank got together all the stock are very interesting. They seem owned by his three brothers and to like Pine Inn very much and bought him out. He now turned think it is something different to play writing as a profession. His first successful play was called "Children of the Moon" and ning of the hotel a lot of attention his latest is the "Criminal Code." it is not very difficult.

He lived in Chicago until 1902 when he came out to Carmel and easy to talk to, for he made a decided to build a home. He did great effort to help me secure a not inherit his money or success but worked his way through the world to a position of comfort. I hope I can do the same.

Martin Flavin

My father, Edward Weston, has been in Carmel for many years and is well-known. He has done many of his best pieces of photography in Carmel and has been quite successful in his work. His favorite place to work is Point Lobos.

My father has traveled throughout Mexico many times and has some very interesting photographs of that country.

He can take a common vegetable that we have every day and make a work of art out of it. I think that he will stay in Carmel and interpret its charms in his photography.

Cole Weston

As F. Luis Mora Looks To His Daughter

My father F. L. Mora was born in Uruguay, South America. He likes to paint, do sculpture and draw. The last he is doing most of the time. He besides being partly Spanish, is also French, his mother being born in Bordeaux, France.

He is very kindly and sympathetic to all people, particularly children. I think he is a fine artist and an ideal father.

Rosemary Mora

Mr. John Jordan

Last evening I was asked to interview Mr. Jordan, owner of Pine Inn and a member of the Carmel City Council. I asked him a few questions and received very interesting answers. Mr. Jordan came to Carmel and liked the place very much. He saw what Mr. Catlin although he made me

He enjoys all outdoor life and I guess the two things he likes to do best are to swim and ride horseback.

Earl Dorrance

Mr. Flavin was born of Irish parents. When he was a young boy his father died having spent all his money on doctor bills. His mother married another man called Mr. Kelley. She then had three more sons called Lawrence, Frank and Kenneth.

When Mr. Kelley died he left the wall paper business which he had started to my father.

THE VILLAGE NEWS-REEL

It seems a long time ago that we were trying to be philosophic great figures in contemporary American literature, spent a day about the eternal fogs, and succeeding fairly well, too. But now in Carmel recently. He is on his way to Russia.

again, the drab ones are erased from our consciousness and we walk into June with unreluctant tread and with the sound of wedding bells ringing in our ears.

Ah, me! People will do it! There's no stopping them, depression or no depression! There are plenty around Carmel who will be knee deep in June and trous- seaux before they realize it. Faith and in spite of constant warnings and sad examples cited, we're always anxious to find out for ourselves.

How many honeymooners will come into Carmel this June? An encouraging number, we'll wager, judging by latest reports and rumors.

Well, there's one thing there's no getting by—if you want to prolong the idyll, you honeymooners, come to Carmel-by-the-Sea. As fine a place to spin a goodly romance as there is on the map!

Episcopal Church

All Saints Church is like a pool of quiet and peace. We have a new choir composed of boys and girls.

On Easter Sunday, the first Sunday which the choir sang, they sang in honor of Celia Seymour who had painted the picture of the "Risen Christ." The picture was placed over the altar.

Each year the Episcopal Churches on the Peninsula have an annual outing to the Indian village for the Sunday School and church members. At these gatherings we play games, picnic, and hike.

Carmel Mission

On Sunday, May 22, a large class of boys and girls received their First Communion at the Carmel Mission. The mass was at 8:00 A.M., as the children receiving communion fasted from midnight the evening before communion the ladies of the Old Mission guild served a delightful breakfast for them after mass.

Mr. Louis Slevin was on hand to take photographs of the children in their communion clothes. The girls were attired in white shoes, stockings, dress and veil and the boys in black suits with a white carnation for a boutonniere which made a picturesque scene in front of the old Mission.

The Community Church

After the Sunday School meeting on Sunday May 29 the children of the larger group are going to form a club. They will meet down in the basement every Sunday evening at certain times. They will have their first meeting the night of the 29th, and we will hear later of the interesting things they will plan to do.

There is going to be a very interesting program in the church, celebrating Decoration Day. Everyone is invited to attend. Mr. Grimshaw, the pastor, has planned an inspiring and patriotic service.

Oakland Woman Rescued from Drowning on Beach by Friend

The heroism of a young woman friend was credited Monday with having saved the life of Mrs. Edward Penner, 38, of Oakland, who was swept into the breakers of the Carmel beach after becoming exhausted.

Crying for help and about ready to give up, Mrs. Penner was rescued by a companion, Dorothy Littlefield, 28, of Oakland who leaped into the breakers. She reached her side just as the older woman was going down for the second time.

More than half a mile out from the shore, the women fought desperately before Miss Littlefield was able to grasp the drowning woman. Mrs. Penner was unconscious when she reached shore.

Under the direction of Fire Chief Robert Leidig, members of the Carmel fire department responded to the emergency call with the rescue wagon. The pulmotor was ready, but Mrs. Penner was revived before it could be used.

But for the heroism of Miss Littlefield, Mrs. Penner would have lost her life, witnesses said.

Mrs. Penner was a member of a group of east bay visitors to Carmel, who organized a swimming party. Mrs. Penner, according to her friends, remained in the water longer than the others. Because of the extreme cold, she became too exhausted and did not have the strength to swim back.
